ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 12.—The side of a mountain caved in on the Southern tracks between Spartanburg and Asheville at noon to-day. Thousands of tons of rock and dirt plunged downward, completely filling one of the largest milroad cuts in the mountains of Western North Carolina, and effectually shutting off all traffic from the South. The landsilde occurred near Tryon, N. C., just at the foot of Saluda mountain. The road had just succeeded in resuming operations of trains, which were blocked by wesliouts in Spartanburg county last week, yesterday being the first day that regular train schedules were in effect. The present disaster will cause the annulment of all trains on this road for at least seven days, as the authorities say that it will be impossible to clear the track before that time. It is also given out that another crack is seen in the mountain just in the rear of cliff from which to-day's avalanche descended, and it is predicted that another tumble of earth and rock will occur, in which case railroad people say that it will be at least twelve days before the running of through trains can be resumed.

The train which started from this place for Columbia at 4 P. M. to-day was wrecked when within twe miles of Hendersonville, N. C. The engine, baggage car, mail car and express car, and one passenger coach were derailed. Postal Clerk Horace G. Cliff received severe bruises, and the fireman was also injured. The cause of the wreck is unknown. bert Harrison, John Kyland, Gordon Smith.
